Interesting things about Carmel

ROBLES DEL RIO
LITTLE LAND OF MANANA

You don't need to go to New Mexico or Old Mexico to find that peaceful "Land of Tomorrow" for it's right here at our door in Robles del Rio, less than half an hour's drive over a paved road.

We were guests at the Robles del Rio clubhouse Sunday and what a dinner we did enjoy from the hands of Mr. Vera, chef and manager of the club.

Lots of people already know what an ideal spot Robles del Rio is but everyone should know more about it. It's a beautiful square mile of paradise fifteen miles out Carmel valley. The fog never reaches it; the sun always shines; and protected from the chill winds of the Pacific it is a spot where summer hides out for the winter, and a spot where you can just sit down and "set."

In the lobby of the clubhouse you can sit before an enormous plate glass window and see far below Carmel river and the tangle of hills stretching for miles. There is a wonderful swimming pool at the clubhouse, now being improved by a lining of light green, glazed tile.

Mr. Porter, who has developed the project during the past six years took time from his many responsibilities to drive us around and point out some of the more interesting views and there are plenty for each turn of the road brings to view a colorful and inviting vista. The tract is now dotted thickly with artistically built homes, at first built as summer residences for those who wanted to escape the fog in Carmel's summer months, but now the homes have been made of a more permanent nature and an increasing number of people having homes in the tract are making it their only home.

Robles del Rio is a place that it is certain will become increasingly popular with people who want to live where it is always peaceful and entirely away from the excitement of a hurrying generation.

LARGE ATTENDANCE
AT OLD MISSION
MIDNIGHT MASS

Although we live in a day of skepticism and disbelief and in a world troubled with every kind of economic uncertainty there are still millions who look for comfort and strength from the Higher Source. This simple truth was very much in evidence last Sunday night when several hundred Catholics and Protestants attended a midnight mass, Christmas observance at the Old Mission.

It was indeed a beautiful and impressive ceremony and the hundreds that were there renewed their faith and devotion in the most beautiful and epoch making event in the history of the world, the Birth in the Manger, the Song of the Angels and the Star in the East.

The altar and the shrines of the Old Mission were brilliant in the soft yellow light of more than one hundred candles. Preceding mass there were beautiful Christmas carols by Mrs. Robertson's Girl Choir of Palo Alto. The choir directed by Mrs. Neil Watson sang "Mass in G" by Sordani. Rev. Father O'Connell made a short address of welcome to all present stressing the point that irrespective of creed the one really priceless thing was a sublime faith in the teachings of the

Bonds Will be
Voted for SewersSanitary District Asks
PWA for $80,000 for
New Sewers

The Carmel Sanitary district has asked $80,000 under the PWA for the construction of a new sewer system for Carmel. Only for the fact that the present site of the sewage farm was in litigation in the court, State Engineer Gillespie states that he would have condemned the system long ago as being unsafe and inadequate.

As soon as the courts decided against Carmel in the title to the land at the mouth of Carmel river, the commission decided to ask for a bond issue as being absolutely necessary. PWA has made the construction almost painless to the district.

The government will give outright 30 per cent of the cost and will carry the remainder of the bonds at 5 per cent.

The plan calls for absolutely the latest word in sewage disposal and a system that will be adequate to supply the city for some years to come.

The construction of the system at this time will mean employment for Carmel people and resultant prosperity for this location, as well as the safeguarding of the health of the citizens as a whole.

William E. Heathorne
Died Last Thursday

William E. Heathorne passed away at his home at Santa Lucia and Bayview last Tuesday evening at seven o'clock. Death was due to heart failure.

Decedent was born in Victoria, Canada, June 24, 1869. He had spent the past two years in Carmel but had been a resident of California for the past forty years. He was in the insurance business.

The body was sent to Oakland for cremation. His widow, Mary Beeton Heathorne, survives. Sympathy of Carmel citizens is extended to the sorrowing.

Harriet Hasty and
Cedric Rowntree Wed

A pretty wedding was solemnized yesterday afternoon at four o'clock at Del Monte Chapel when Miss Harriet Hasty became the bride of Mr. Cedric Rowntree.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Louise Hasty and for the past two years has made her home in Carmel where she is a general favorite both with the young and older folk.

The groom is a son of Bernard Rowntree on Monte Verde avenue and is also popular among Carmel people, having spent the past six years here.

After the ceremony, the guests were given a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Wheeler in Pebble Beach.

Best wishes attend the newlyweds from scores of friends.

Master, and assuring every person that whatever their beliefs might be they were always welcome and invited to the Old Mission.

The celebrants of the mass were Father Lorgan, Mr. Harry Downey and Father O'Connell who was master of ceremonies. The sermon of the evening was delivered by Father Lorgan, a Jesuit.

PRESSURE IS BEING BROUGHT TO BEAR ON BOARD FOR LICENSE

It has come to light that pressure is being brought to bear on the state board of equalization demanding that license for the sale of hard liquors be granted to Carmel merchants.

If the board should ignore the restrictions against the sale of liquor, in the deeds, it would make one pause to wonder just what standing under the law a deed restriction has. Would it mean that when one bought in a district where nothing but houses costing not less than $10,000 could be built, he might in a short time find his fine residence surrounded by shacks?

Does it mean that those people who bought property in Carmel on account of these liquor restrictions may live to see their property adjoining that on which a vendor dispenses liquor?

Carmel is essentially a HOME town and should be kept DESIRABLE for a HIGH CLASS of people.

CARMEL MUST PUT OVER THE PWA
SEWER BOND ISSUE

At a meeting last week of the Carmel Sanitary District commissioners it was unanimously decided to ask the PWA for a loan of approximately $80,000 for modernizing the district's septic tank and sewer system.

Carmel Sun desires to go on record as being unconditionally behind the project.

The state engineer has made it known that he has held off ordering improvements necessary to the health of the community because of a law suit involving the district's present outfall and septic tank, and as the work must be done, an application has been made by the district for the money from PWA. Every citizen interested in the future welfare of Carmel should get behind the project and see that the bond issue when it comes to a vote, carries by a big, safe majority. The government makes an outright gift of thirty per cent of the amount required and in addition purchases the remaining seventy per cent of the bonds and carries them for the required term of years at the low rate of five per cent interest.

There will never be a time again when needed public improvements can be obtained at so little cost to those benefited. And there is the economic side of the question for Carmel to consider.

The district's engineer states that the greater part of the money will be spent for labor, both skilled and unskilled. It will not only furnish labor for Carmel's unemployed but it will mean a boost in business for every Carmel merchant and a boost that the merchants must have if they are to continue in business. Carmel is one of the few towns in the country that have so far failed to take advantage of the government's generous offer to aid not only unemployed but indirectly everyone having anything to sell.

Monterey, Pacific Grove and the smaller towns and districts report business improving toward something like old time prosperity and Carmel cannot afford to be out of step with the rest of the world.

Get behind this new project and make it a success.

THE SUN'S COLUMNS ARE STILL OPEN

Irrespective of our editorial endorsement of the PWA sewer bond issue, and whatever stand we may take on this or any other issues that may come up at any time in the future, Carmel Sun's policy of keeping its columns open to arguments by those favoring or opposing any issue remains just the same. We will be glad to publish free of charge, signed letters from any responsible, sincere person stating his beliefs. It is not our desire to be a dictator or even attempt to be one. It must be borne in mind, however, that we have a right to our opinion and having at heart the welfare and future of Carmel just as much as anyone else, we shall exercise our right and privilege as taxpayer and citizen to influence just as many to our way of thinking as possible.

Roland Hayes Here
Week from Saturday

Ten tours of Europe, ten of America, singing to packed houses. That has been the goal attained by Roland Hayes, negro tenor, from a poor Georgia shanty, up through a circuitous route by way of a Tennessee iron factory to graduation from Fisk University.

From Boston, Hayes went to London and when he had received a royal command to sing at Buckingham Palace, the doors to success were opened and from that time he has delighted audiences with his pure rich tones and his understanding recognition of the negro spirituals.

From every city where he has appeared have come comments such as this from Paris Excelsior: "The triumph of Roland Hayes was complete in his singing of the Negro Spirituals, of which he is the incomparable spokesman. He reveals all their pitiful longing, their simplicity which is childlike, and irresistibly touching. Here indeed is the most marvelous apostle of 'black magic.'"

Following is the program the tenor will give in Carmel January sixth as the third number of the Carmel Music Society winter series:

Schubert Ganymede
Schubert Wohin
Debussy Invitation au Voyage
Koechlen Le The

Trunk Rest
Taniff The Fountain
Henry Eichem Come Out
When I'm Dead
Roderick White The Eagle

A group of Spirituals.

Perceval Parhan, negro accompanist, who has worked with Hayes for years, will come from New York to accompany the tenor at his program in Carmel.

Artists Assigned
To CWA Project

Four more of the peninsula's artists were assigned to work on one of the Civil Works Administration projects planned to give employment to artists and sculptors of the nation. A group of Carmel artists is already at work on a program in Berkeley so that today's assignment fills the peninsula's quota under the present program.

The local project will be decoration of the walls of the Bohemian room in the north wing of the Old Custom House. The work will be done under the direction of E. Charlton Fortune, Francis McComas and Carmel Martin, appointed by Dr. Walter Heil, director of the Palace of the Legion of Honor, San Francisco and regional director of the work in northern California, Nevada and Utah.

The committee met this morning at the Customs House and allotted space to Augustus Gay, James Fitzgerald, Burton Boudney and Evelyn McCormick of Monterey, and A. H. Irwin of Santa Cruz. The Monterey bay area being limited to a quota of five artists.

The general theme of the decorations will be "The American Scene" and sketches are required to be submitted by the end of this week to the local committee, who will forward them to Dr. Heil for final approval. Harold E. Mack of Del Monte is assistant to Dr. Heil and actively in charge of the work in this area. —Monterey Herald.

Monterey Is Planning
To Honor President

To honor the birthday of President Roosevelt, the democratic county central committee is planning a celebration for January 30. The entire community is invited to participate. Members of the committee in charge are:

Carmel Martin, J. F. Pryor, Emmett McMenamin, P. J. Dougherty, Mrs. Edna Wright, Dr. E. L. Clay, Argyll Campbell, Frank Sheridan, Cecil Greter, F. C. Swain, W. H. McConnell and Don Hale.

Many other cities throughout the nation will celebrate the occasion.

Mrs. McFarland of the Village Sandwich Shop went to Santa Cruz Saturday to visit over the Christmas holidays with friends.

City Council
Approves ProjectCity Council Approves a
New CWA Project
For Beach

At a called session of the city council last evening, Robert Norton, chairman of the committee to plan a project to be submitted to obtain CWA aid for Carmel, presented a plan for the improving of the beach at the end of Ocean avenue, providing parking space there, comfort stations, and extending the road on around the beach.

The government will be asked for $5177 for labor and $506 for material, the city to furnish $1350 for material and superintendents and trucks.

It is estimated that the work will require 5150 hours of unskilled labor and 2800 hours of skilled labor. Unless the time limit is extended, as it probably will be, the work must be finished by February 15.

Wade Sargeant, the county CWA representative, has given his word to get the project through for ratification as soon as possible.

A letter was read from Ben Wetzel asking that the street in front of his residence on Juniper between Eighth and Ninth be drained to keep water from coming into his yard during the rainy season. The street commissioner reported that it could be done only by cutting some trees and this method was decided upon.

A letter from Edward Kuster, found elsewhere in this issue, was read asking the council to purchase the community theatre as a municipal theatre and playground. Action was delayed until the regular meeting in February.

Whales Close to Shore
Thrill Local People

The season is on when whales are passing near the shore and several people have been thrilled recently by the sight of the huge mammals.

When Mrs. Maude Stewart and a party of friends were driving down the coast Sunday they were most astonished to see what they took for an island somewhat out away from the shore near the Martin Flavin home. But the island disappeared and farther on reappeared, and they then realized they were looking at a whale.

Woman's Club Will Hold Annual Party

The annual New Year's party given by the Carmel Woman's Club will be held at the Girl Scout House next Monday, New Year's Day, from four to six in the afternoon. This annual party or openhouse has been given by the club for the last four years and is quite an event of the winter social season. The most interesting feature of the occasion is that every man, woman and child of Carmel is invited. Refreshments will be served, and the clubhouse will be attractively decorated.

Those assisting the president, Mrs. Karl G. Rendtorff are: Miss Elizabeth Armstrong, Miss Agnes Williston, Mrs. D. K. Stanford, Mrs. Edward Smith and Miss Ruth Huntington.

SCHOOL OPENS TUESDAY

After a vacation since December 22, school will reopen Tuesday morning and work will be resumed as usual. Both teachers and youngsters have thoroughly enjoyed the holidays.

Keep Open Date
For Piano Recital

It seems some time before the coming of Winifred Christie and her double keyboard piano to the Denny-Watrous gallery on January 26, but you'll be wanting to keep it in mind so that nothing will interfere with your attendance.

Miss Christie not only comes with the highest recommendations as a pianist but brings with her the new instrument which was invented in 1921 and perfected in 1930.

Literature descriptive of this instrument says: "There are two keyboards placed one above the other as in a harpsichord or an organ; the lower is the normal piano keyboard, the upper plays one octave higher. A 7 pedal couples the two, enabling the performer to play in octaves with one finger, either staccato or legato. At the back of the lower keyboard the white notes are raised to the level of the black keys, giving a new and fascinating effect, the chromatic glissando. Another possibility is the creation of new chord combinations of rich tonal texture."

Louise Adams Armer
To Be Guest Here

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Montague will have their guests for New Year holidays Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Armer of Berkeley. They will arrive Saturday.

Mrs. Armer is probably better known as Laura Adams Armer, she having won recognition in photography, painting and writing. She was a student with Edward Weston and won many prizes on her work. Later she took up oil paintings and followed this era with writing. She is now working on her third book. She has also been a lecturer for the past year.

Collaborating with his wife, Mr. Armer illustrates her books and does exquisite work. He is now illustrating her book on Cacti.

Mr. and Mrs. Armer are now on their way to Old Mexico to gather material for a new book. Mrs. Armer will speak over KGO Friday from 4:30 till 5:00.

The Nativity Play at Sunset Was Beautiful

Achieving with soft lights the glow of starlight and with a brilliant light the indication of the presence of the babe in the manger, the Nativity play put on at Sunset school last Thursday night was a beautiful spectacle.

To Miss Madeline Curry and Miss Anna Marie Baer, two of the teachers, is given credit for the production.

Pilgrims of that time passed by and now offered of his goods for the Christ child until one little youngster appeared with his lamb which he offered. The curtain then raised on a scene depicting Mary and the babe surrounded by the host of angels and Christmas carols were softly sung.

This is the fifth production of this play and one of the best. All those who took part are to be congratulated.

JENNIE LOUISE POWERS
NONE FROM HOSPITAL

Miss Jennie Louise Powers was back in Carmel this week shaking hands with friends after an absence of some time, a part of which she spent in a hospital in San Francisco. She has entirely recovered her health.

Miss Powers is a sister of the late Lucius Powers who was killed in an automobile accident in Fresno a short time ago, and of the late Frank Powers who was associated with J. V. Devendorf in the founding of Carmel. Her nephew, Lucius Powers, Jr., is a member of the state legislature.

Tuesday Last Day to Pay Your City Taxes

On Tuesday, the last day to pay city taxes before they become delinquent, more than $4,500 was received by Chief of Police Gus England in his capacity as tax collector. Mr. England stated yesterday morning that more than $20,000 had been received so far at this time, a great many people paying up their present and delinquent assessments.

Mrs. Ed Warner Bitten By Bulldog

When Mrs. Ed Warner stepped inside the postoffice Friday morning, leading her dog, Zipp, on his leash, a large bull dog belonging to Traffic Officer Lee Ramsay seized her hand in which she was holding the leash and bit two fingers. He then released her hand and attacked Zipp, tearing two holes in his neck.

Credit must be given to Robert Norton who seized the attacking dog and choked his wind off so that he could not fight any more.

Mr. Ramsay has placed his dog under observation and will hereafter not allow him out without a muzzle.

Presidio Adopts CWA To Employ 144 Men

With work probably under way in two weeks, the Monterey Presidio Civil Works program will give employment to 144 men. The improvements call for $90,000 which will be used to beautify the presidio grounds. They plan to paint all presidio buildings, at an estimated cost of $20,000; to grade and surface certain post roads, at a cost of $10,000; construct a post recreation center, including gymnasium and swimming pool, cost $30,000, and to construct a road to camp Ord, Gigling reservation, to cost $30,000.

TIME EXTENDED

The deadline for filing applications for PWA money which was originally set for January 1, has been extended indefinitely, according to late reports.

EDW. KUSTER OFFERS TO SELL COMMUNITY THEATER TO CITY FOR MUNICIPAL PLAYHOUSE

The following letter from Edward Kuster was read at city council meeting Wednesday night:

Carmel, California
December 27, 1933
To the Honorable Mayor and City Council, City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, California.

Gentlemen:
I respectfully submit for your early consideration a proposal that the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea acquire from me the following described property:

Lots 11, 12, 13, 14 and 16, all in Block 6, Addition No. 1 to the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, together with the buildings and improvements thereon familiarly known as Carmel Community Playhouse and Arts and Crafts Hall (also called the Greenroom).

The above property is 200 feet deep, fronting 120 feet on Casanova street, 80 feet on Monte Verde street. I recommend that the property be acquired and held for park, playground, theatre and recreational purposes, but the deed would be without restrictions except those that were imposed by the Carmel Development Company on all similar property. The premises may accordingly be used for any legal municipal purposes. There is ample unoccupied space for the installation of swings, bars and other playground equipment.

PRICE: Owing to the unsettled condition of the market as well as the special character of the improvements upon these lots I am not now suggesting a specific price, but would be willing to submit the matter to a board of appraisers, who without objection on my part may be taxpayers of said city.

TERMS: I would be willing to accept the City's long-term obligation for the whole of the new purchase price, with interest at six per cent.

INCUMBRANCES: (1) A mortgage of $2,500, bearing seven per cent interest, which matures in about two years. I will guarantee renewal of this mortgage for at least three years after present maturity; (2) a contract with Olga Fish, expiring March 31, 1934, for the benefit of Carmel Community Players, covering exclusive occupation of the Hall and also periodical use of the Playhouse.

I append for your consideration a statement and argument amplifying and supporting the above offer.

Respectfully submitted,
EDWARD KUSTER

Kuster's Statement Accompanying the Proposal

After fourteen years' experience with plays and among players' groups in Carmel I am convinced that only the municipality itself, managing the Community Playhouse property as a civic or municipal theatre, can hold the balance among the several active and ambitious local play-producing groups, all desirous of using the plant to the maximum but willing or able to pay therefor only a fraction of the full-time rental of the property.

I am equally convinced that it is of unique and inestimable benefit to the community that the greatest possible latitude be allowed impartially to the several dramatic groups now in existence or to arise in the future. After four years' ownership of the Community Playhouse property I find it impossible to conceive of a single organization's producing all the plays which Carmel shall be permitted to enjoy and to show its visitors. Under monopoly the Theatre inevitably falls into a state of dry rot.

A large part of the charm of Carmel life has rested for years in the activity of the several dramatic groups and the varying degrees of artistry manifested in their productions. A substantial part of the business of Carmel's merchants is derived from hotel and house guests and transient visitors who are attracted here from time to time by out-of-the-ordinary stage productions, both indoor and out. The Theatre is the one place where the work of Carmel's artists and craftsmen can be assembled and synthesized. It is well known that the state of Carmel's theatre at any time is the measure by which the outside world determines the vitality and cultural stature of the community.

The Community Playhouse and adjacent Hall or Greenroom together form a complete working plant. The Green room is equipped with a stage which is ideal for dramatic school and laboratory productions; with a floor suited to dancing-classes; and with walls and sky-lights adapted to art exhibitions. The Playhouse proper is exceptionally well-equipped for major dramatic and operatic productions. In due time the seating capacity can be doubled at small cost by extending the main building to the Monte Verde street property line.

The Hall, having been built twenty-three years ago, is historically interesting as the oldest public building in Carmel. Nevertheless it remains structurally sound, requiring only shakes and shingles for complete restoration.

The Playhouse, designed by Perry Newberry and built by the Carmel Club of Arts and Crafts in 1923 at a cost of $7,000 was enlarged and improved by the Abalone League at a cost of approximately $4,500. On taking over the property I expended upward of $2,500 on it, represented today by the existing mortgage. Accordingly, this building, outside of portable equipment, represents a capital investment of about $14,000, subject to normal depreciation. I do not know the capital investment involved in the Hall, nor its replacement value.

Before I acquired these properties which I took over for investment purposes, they had been occupied more or less exclusively by several organizations successively. On acquiring them I instituted the plan of making the buildings available at low rentals for the meetings or entertainments of any individual or organization in the community, regardless of social, religious, economic or political affiliations; in brief, to manage and conduct the plant as a veritable community institution, meanwhile deriving therefrom a rental return sufficient to protect the investment.

On April 1, 1932, Messrs. Byington Ford, Charles Berkey and Peter Mawdsley appraised the annual rental value of said property at $2,500. The Carmel Community Players, a new organization, thereupon leased the premises for a year, at a rental of $1,800, presenting during such period plays solely of their own selection and production. At the termination of this lease the organization declined to renew. Since April 1, 1933, the arrangement has been, and still it, as follows: the Carmel Community Players, under a contract made in their behalf by Olga Fish, occupy the Arts and Crafts Hall (the Greenroom) continuously and exclusively, and occupy the Playhouse for one week every five weeks, on the average through the year, for all of which they pay as rent an average of $66 per month leaving a deficit in rent return on the investment of $142 per month.

It has been my endeavor to make up this deficit in rent and at the same time restore the community character of the plant by renting the Playhouse to other groups such as the Monterey Peninsula Opera Association, the Authors' and Actors' Guild of Carmel, the Cornish Players of Seattle, the Teller Shakespearean Players of San Francisco, the John Reed Club of Carmel, as well as to sundry musicians, dancers, lecturers and others, besides occasionally presenting productions by my own group of Golden Bough Players.

It has become impossible for me single-handedly to continue in this bona-fide impartial effort to establish a community character for the property in question, and I have therefore determined to dispose of the same, preferably to the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea. Partisanship among the groups using the property is so strong that the position of an individual owner, at any rate of myself who endeavors to administer the property fairly and for the general good, is rendered intolerable. I submit that a municipal commission can meet this situation and manage the property for the dignity and credit and even the financial benefit of the city.

To the possible objection that is unprecedented and visionary is unprecedented and visionary there are at least two answers: (1) "Where there is no vision the people shall perish;" and the examples of successful municipal small-town theatres in the United States, and even in California, are numerous. Such theatres are invariably administered in the spirit of the public library and the public school, with this important difference; that with commonsense management a municipal theatre property is self-sustaining and may even return a profit, which is not the case with a public library or school.

Another possible objection that may be offered is that by my ownership and ultimate control of the Theatre of the Golden Bough I will automatically become a competitor of the purchaser of the Community Playhouse property. To this there are several answers: (1) the Community Playhouse plant can be bought so cheaply at this time that the Theatre of the Golden Bough will never be able to compete directly with it but must confine itself to the unique type of play or other entertainment for which it is pre-eminently fitted; (2) a community theatre is primarily a recreational instrument for the self-expression of the citizens and for directed group activity among amateurs of the theatre, and it is generally known that such a theatre can always hold its own in the face of individual competition; and (3) the Theatre of the Golden Bough can be purchased now or hereafter for a reasonable price and on reasonable terms by or for the benefit of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea or of any responsible group within it.

In conclusion I ask the Council to give my proposal serious consideration, not perfunctorily dismissing it because it bears on the surface some similarity to the Forest Theatre offer recently made and withdrawn. The latter involved entirely different factors, the most important of which was that the Forest Theatre enjoys only a short season and its financial returns must be gathered during a period of precarious weather conditions; another being that the practice of the Forest Theatre management for two decades has been to include in its productions a very large proportion of non-residents of Monterey Peninsula sojourning in Carmel on summer vacation and not forming a part of the community proper. On the other hand, the problem of the conduct of Carmel Community Playhouse and Arts and Crafts Hall is a year-round matter and reaches into the very heart of our communal life. THE PROPERTY MUST BE TAKEN OUT OF LOCAL INDIVIDUAL OWNERSHIP. If the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea declines to acquire it and undertake its custody and administration for the benefit of the people I shall be compelled to adopt the alternative of selling it to one of the local drama groups already formed or now forming. It is my wish, however, to allow every opportunity for Carmel, which had a countrywide reputation for producing plays even before the national Little Theatre movement began, to acquire and conduct its own community theatre.

Respectfully submitted,
EDWARD KUSTER

CWA WORKERS Get $7,000 Last Saturday

The 430 peninsula residents who are employed on CWA projects were paid more than $7,000 last Saturday, according to Wade Sargent, director of civil works for Monterey county.

The full quota of 1408 men is now employed in the county, receiving a payroll of more than $15,000.

The peninsula section will continue to receive the $7,000 payroll until about February 15, unless the time is extended.

Ne wArchdeacon Makes First Official Visit

The Ven. W. R. H. Hodgkins, D. D., who succeeded Dr. A. W. Noel Porter, as archdeacon of the Episcopal diocese of California, is making his first official visit to his churches on the peninsula this week.

Lewis Crane and wife and daughter, Miss Peggy, left early Saturday morning for Pasadena to visit over Christmas with Mrs. Crane's relatives.

Miss Janice Butterfield of Berkeley is a guest at the home of Mrs. S. E. Bixler at Gaudalope and First.

Ricard Beats Coalco On Salinas Card

By Sports Editor

Last Friday night on the James J. Jefferies fight card at Salinas Tex Rickard pounded out a clean cut win over Joe Coaloco. Tex carried the battle every step beating the tough Mexican with heavy rights to the jaw and heart.

Coaloco was in a bad way at the end of the fight. His body was black and blue from the storm of leather Tex covered him with. In the dressing room after the fight the Mexican said: "That aint no prize fighter. That's a wild cat."

Del Hawkins had hard luck as he was beating Speedy Stockdale and had him out on his feet when Speedy, so groggy he couldn't see, lashed out a vicious right that caught Del in the pit of the bread basket. It slowed Del up so he lost the nod. Del is a good boy.

The much tooted Frankie Morales run out on fighting Bob Dalton and refused to fight. He showed a lot of sense at that as the Carmel school boy was in the pink of condition.

The fights were all good and it was a sight for sore eyes to see old Jim back in the ring.

The crowd was small as most of the fans were spending their dollar for Christmas and not fights.

ARTISTS AND AUTHORS GUILD GIVES FIRST PLAY

The first production of the new Actors and Authors Guild of Carmel, "A Christmas Fantasy of Old Russia", was staged at the Community Playhouse on last Friday and Saturday evenings to appreciative audiences. The play was directed by Janet Large.

The play opened with a group of soldiers singing by their campfire outside the palace walls. Col. Ilya Jadovskoy, in the role of Ilya, received several encores for his splendid Russian dances. Charles Sayers, as Captain McGregor, capably furnished the comedy relief. Alla Osborne portrayed the role of the gypsy dancer very well and received much applause.

The second act was in the nursery room of the palace where an entertainment was being held for the Czar's children. More gypsy and Russian dances were given by Alla Osborne and Col. Jadovskoy who, upon being encored, graciously repeated their dances. A cello selection by Edward Kuster was well received by the audience.

Although the time of the play was short, the plot light and entertaining, the play was well chosen, being staged just previous to the holidays.

Other members of the cast: Josef Borosky, Vladimir Nom, Jan Kurilim, Ralph James, Bernard Rowntree, Edward Kuster, Austin Reynolds, Janet Large, Michael O'Crotty and Jeanie Sayers.

"Twenty Lascivious Turtles", a three-act comedy, is the next production of the group. Dates will be announced later.

Crowd Handled Nicely

At Carmel Postoffice

Keeping the office open Saturday afternoons, and on Saturday evening preceding Christmas, Postmaster Overstreet is to be commended for caring for the Christmas crowd this year in such a way that there was no long waiting lines and no delays in delivery.

More than 400 packages were delivered Saturday night, the 23rd.

Six extra men were put to work for five days, paid on an average of 60 cents per hour.

Gifts came to Carmel from as far as Moscow, Russia, according to Mr. Overstreet. He also stated that up to Wednesday morning less than 100 Christmas packages remained in the office of the thousands received.

D. E. Nixon was ill and unable to be at his duty as night watchman two nights the first of the week. Officer Charles Guth took his place.

The mayor of Monterey has issued a proclamation calling on people to give to the Red Cross to aid flood sufferers in the northwest.
